McElroy in Washington — Ohio's attorney general, Mark McElroy, is shown (left) as he met U. S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy at the Justice Department in Washington to urge closer federal-state cooperation in crackdown on gambling in Ohio. McElroy went to the capital after he led the raid on the Lisbon Salesbook Co. in which he termed the third largest numbers or "bug" book printing plant in the country.

Nikita Rejects Ban Proposals

Suggests Power Study Of Problems

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev formally rejected today the U.S.-British appeal for a ban on nuclear tests in the earth's atmosphere. He suggested a big power study of major world problems to stave off the threat of nuclear war.

"It goes without saying that the Soviet government cannot and will not agree to such a deal," Khrushchev said of the Western proposal for the embargo on further atmospheric tests.

In a broadcast statement concerning the move by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Khrushchev said they were trying to divorce the question of weapon testing from the over-all problem of disarmament.

They were trying to have the question considered "in isolation," he complained in identical notes delivered to the U.S. and British embassies.

Khrushchev went on: "Every time of their statement revealed a desire to ensure, cost what it may, for the Western powers and their allies in aggressive military blocs, unilateral military advantages to the detriment of the security interests of the Soviet Union and the other socialist states."

Khrushchev called the Western offer dishonest. At the same time he issued a counterappeal to the United States and Britain for a big power study of major world problems to stave off the threat of nuclear war over Berlin.

Kennedy and Macmillan had appealed to Khrushchev for an all-time, unpoliced ban on nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

Khrushchev urged the Western leaders "to embark together on the solution of the major problem

Castro Executes 5 Invasion Rebels

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Five members of the anti-Castro invasion force that landed in Cuba April 17 were executed Friday night for crimes committed during the Batista regime, Havana radio reported today.

The five fell before Fidel Castro's firing squads at 11 p.m. the broadcast said.

They were among 14 of the invaders who were tried before a military tribunal in Santa Clara Friday. Their names were listed as Ramon Calvino Inzua, Antonio Valetin Padron Cardenas, Emilio Soler Puig, Jorge Ping Yung, and Roberto Perez Cruzota.

Calvino, who had been a corporal in the investigations department of the Havana police during the dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista, had been accused of committing many murders and of torturing prisoners and other crimes.

The trial of the 14 lasted about eight hours.

McElroy Says Help In Raid Appreciated

Attorney General Mark McElroy today publicly thanked Columbiana County law enforcement officials for their aid in the Wednesday morning raid on a Lisbon printing plant.

McElroy sent letters to Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard, Prosecutor S. William Brokaw and Lisbon Police Chief Dalton Pike.

These officials accompanied McElroy and other state men on the raid at the Lisbon Sales Book Co. The printing plant was printing more than 20,000 books a day and McElroy called it the third largest numbers or "bug" book printing plant in the country.

In the letter to Brokaw, McElroy said:

"I am sure this operation could not have been stopped... without your help...."

He also thanked Pike and Judge Buzzard and said the cooperation of various law enforcement agencies indicates the state "is serving notice on all manufacturers of gambling equipment that the state means business and will not tolerate violations of its laws."

McElroy indicated he planned an early conference with Brokaw to aid in bringing legal action to padlock the printing concern.

Brokaw said earlier that he would ask the Columbiana County Grand Jury, which convenes Tuesday, to consider the case.

Democrats to Make Plans For Banquet

The Columbiana County Democratic Central and Executive Committees will meet Wednesday evening at 8 at the Democratic Headquarters in Lisbon.

"Numbers" Case To Be Probed

The grand jury also is expected to probe into the case of the Lisbon Salesbook Co. whose plant was raided by Ohio Attorney General Mark McElroy Wednesday because it was printing "numbers" slips for eastern racketeers.

Cases to be heard include: Hamblet Brooks, 83, of East Liverpool, charged with second degree murder in the shooting of his wife, Louisa, aged 81, in their home Aug. 26.

Homer R. Williams, first degree manslaughter in the death of Wilbert Willard when Williams struck him in East Liverpool June 4.

Three assaults with deadly weapons: James Taylor on William Figley, July 2; Morgan Westley Fulmer on Wayne Butler when he shot him July 22 with 12-gauge shotgun, and Eugene Simmons Jr. of Aliquippa on Henry Roach Jr., May 26.

40,000 To Get Call

U.S. To Send More Troops Into Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced today that about 40,000 additional regular Army troops would be sent to Europe "in the immediate future."

Reds' Nuclear Dust Nears U.S.

Officials Foresee No Health Danger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radio active fallout from the Soviet Union's third nuclear test may be detected today by U.S. observers.

Officials have said there was no immediate health danger from the fallout.

Due to a weather freak, the radioactive cloud from the third nuclear test passed across to the North American continent ahead of fallout from the second blast.

Dr. Lester Machta, a U.S. Weather Bureau scientist, said that due to the weather at the time of Monday's second shot, the radioactive cloud was largely caught in a high pressure cell above northern Siberia.

The third test — touched off Tuesday — presumably was caught by strong winds and went scooting underneath the high pressure area toward the east.

Machta said the cloud from the third shot was moving at about 60 miles an hour and was due over this continent Friday night or today.

If no fallout is detected today, Machta said, U.S. scientists will presume that the third shot may have been exploded at high altitude. It would take longer for fallout from a high shot to tumble back down where it can be detected.

Machta and other Weather Bureau scientists estimate that the first test was exploded below 40,000 feet. This is indicated, they say, by the relatively rapid arrival over the United States of radioactive debris from the initial blast Sept. 1.

Fallout from the first blast was detected earlier this week by a station in Alaska, but there have been no reports of spotting it elsewhere.

Machta said the cloud from the first test should begin passing over the Atlantic towards Europe by Sunday. He said there were two possible explanations as to why it had not been reported elsewhere:

1. The radioactive cloud may

Most of them will go to Germany to strengthen combat because of forces in the Soviet Union's threat to West Berlin.

The Pentagon also announced that transportation of dependents to Europe would be suspended, beginning Oct. 9.

The suspension covers all means of travel and applies to travel to the following countries: Belgium, Denmark, France, West Germany, Greece, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Turkey and the United Kingdom.

The suspension of travel applies to dependents of both combat troops and civilian employees of the Defense Department. It does not apply to West Berlin. The Pentagon said West Berlin was a "special case" but did not explain this.

The 40,000 men being sent abroad are all regular Army troops. Officials would not name the units or tell exactly where they are coming from.

An announcement said these reinforcements would bring the 7th Army, stationed in Germany, and other U.S. units committed to North Atlantic Treaty Organization to full combat strength. They will also provide additional combat, combat-support and logistical units for U.S. Army forces in Europe.

The 40,000 includes 3,000 men, the Army had previously announced were going to Germany. Gen. George H. Decker said Friday that each of the three infantry divisions in the critical German area was being given 1,000 additional men.

Present strength of U.S. forces in Germany includes five divisions — three infantry and two armored. There are about 250,000 troops in Germany.

Explaining the cut-off of travel for dependents, officials said it was due to "logistic requirements" for the movement of the troops, which apparently means that transportation is overburdened.

The flow of dependents of military personnel and civilian workers of the Defense Department has been running at about 7,000 to 8,000 a month.

Both the troop movements and the ban on dependents' travel were announced by the Pentagon with the approval of President Kennedy.

The secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force were ordered to:

1. Stop completely on Oct. 9 government-sponsored travel of dependents to Europe.

2. Discontinue immediately all "port calls" for the transportation of dependents to Europe. A port

800 Mile Strip Alerted

Carla's Violent Winds Head For Gulf Coast

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Louisiana and Texas coasts, an 800-mile strip from New Orleans to the Mexican border, buttressed their defenses today for the first of Hurricane Carla's 125-mile an hour winds.

The Weather Bureau in New Orleans, in its 1 a.m. bulletin, said the storm was about 400 miles south of New Orleans in the Gulf of Mexico. It plowed along at about nine miles per hour in a west northwest direction.

There was still no definite indication where the "large and dangerous" storm might move inland. It maintained its curve westward during the night.

But hundreds in the Louisiana coastal marsh country heeded the Weather Bureau's note of caution to evacuate the lowlands and seek higher ground.

In Cameron, La., devastated by Hurricane Audrey in 1957 with more than 500 killed, only a hardy handful—police estimated less than 25—of the town's 5,000 population remained. All stores and business were boarded up.

Police guarded all roads into Cameron, perched atop a ridge about 30 miles south of Lake Charles, La., and only 40 miles from the Texas state line.

French Chief's Auto Escapes Bomb On Road

Plastic Explosive Believed Algerian; Suspect Arrested

PARIS (AP) — President De Gaulle escaped injury in a bizarre assassination attempt with fire and explosives on a country road Friday night, official sources said today. The old soldier shrugged off the incident.

"This was just a little joke in bad taste," De Gaulle said. The presidential limousine had sped safely through a wall of flame from an inflammable mixture apparently touched off to serve as the fuse for a plastic bomb. The plastic charge, weighing eight pounds, had failed to go off.

Police quickly arrested a man. There was no immediate indication whether he had anything to do with the incident.

Plastic explosives are frequently used by right-wing Algerian settlers in acts of terrorism against De Gaulle's Algerian policies.

Official sources said De Gaulle ordered the cars in his party halted after they had passed through the flames. He got out, hunched his shoulders, and said scoffingly: "This was just a little joke in bad taste."

Then the 70-year-old president got back into his limousine and resumed the trip to his country home about 150 miles east of Paris.

De Gaulle at first insisted that the incident not be made public because he considered it "of no importance at all," government sources said. Later, he relented when his advisors told him word of it was certain to get out.

A palace communique said: "An inflammable mixture along with an explosive charge last night was placed between Nogent and Romilly, on the road that the chief of state was taking to Colombey-les-Deux Eglises.

"This inflammable mixture took fire without provoking an explosion."

Coed Slayer Hunted In Pennsylvania

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Police from Pennsylvania and Ohio focused their attention on the Carlisle area today in search of a 17-year-old youth charged with slaying a Kent State University coed.

The object of the manhunt was Richard J. Stewart of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. Stewart has been charged with first-degree murder in the strangling and brutal beating of Judy Sooy, an 18-year-old blond also from Cuyahoga Falls.

The search in this central Pennsylvania area was touched off late Friday when state police discovered an abandoned car about two miles east of Carlisle believed to be owned by Stewart's mother.

The Sooy girl's battered body was found at the home of Stewart's stepfather in Cuyahoga Falls Monday night.

Police theorized the girl was dead about 24 hours. The coroner ruled death was due to strangulation.

The girl's parents said their daughter apparently was lured from her home Sunday night by an unknown telephone caller who invited her to a party of some high school friends. She was picked up at a shopping center within sight of her home, Ohio police were told. That was the last she was seen alive.

Stewart's parents found the body of the girl after returning home from a holiday weekend trip. The boy did not go on that trip.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Why Worry When You Can Pray?

"A man in Seattle is trying to reach you by telephone," said my secretary. "He seems very worried, says it is urgent."

Picking up the phone I presently heard the voice of a stranger rapidly, nervously introducing himself to me by name and occupation. Then he said, "I'm absolutely sick with worry."

He spent some five minutes and a good many dollars describing his acute anxiety and the suffering it was causing him. When I could get a word in I asked him to tell me exactly what the problem was. It revolved around a business venture of very large proportions. He said he was the only man with the special competence required to put it over successfully. He had worked long and hard at it. Now the fate of this enterprise was hanging in the balance. And he was worried — "worried sick."

IT WAS EVIDENT I was talking with a man of real ability and accomplishment, but somehow he was lacking in the kind of confidence that keeps a person steady in time of crisis. I asked if he had done everything within his power and knowledge to make his venture successful. He said yes, he had; so far as he could see there was nothing more he could do.

"Well, then," I said, "let's bring up against this worry of yours the one great resource that can overcome it."

"What's that?"
"Some real faith in God," I answered. "And to help you get that faith I suggest that we pray together now — you there in Seattle and I here in New York, but the two of us thinking together in the Lord's name over the telephone." I offered aloud a prayer asking that this man might feel the reassuring presence of the Lord I prayed that, being sure he had done his best, he would be content to trust and leave the outcome in God's hands. "Thank you, Lord," I concluded, "for your gracious help to this troubled child of yours."

TO MY SURPRISE, my Seattle friend then prayed aloud himself, substantially the same prayer. A momentary silence followed. Then he said, "Isn't it foolish to worry when you can pray?"

Now there is a thought worth inscribing on your consciousness. Why worry when you can pray? Not only is worrying misery in itself but it can also make you ill. A California physician practicing in a part of the country renowned for its healthful climate recently expressed the opinion that one third of the people in his state have ailments traceable to worry. If that is true, what must be the percentage of people sick with worry in a city like New York or Chicago? No wonder the Bible says so much about prayer as the means of overcoming worry.

St. Paul wrote to the Philippians, "The Lord is at hand. Have no anxiety about anything, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God."

WHY IS PRAYER the great antidote to worry? What happens when you pray? Many things. But one basic thing is that the act of prayer brings a fresh realization of God's sustaining presence everywhere and in all situations. And we are told to pray with thanksgiving for this makes you mindful of your blessings, awakens gratitude in the heart and thereby stimulates the flow of new blessings.

In other words, prayer is the greatest process for reconditioning your mind. It flushes out mistaken ideas. It frees the mind from obsessions. It cancels out negativism and restores confidence. It clears your mental powers for a better understanding of your problems and improves your ability to handle them.

So, if you are a worrier, try this: Concentrate all the energy you have on realizing that God is with you. Use the following affirmation every day: "God is with me. I am with Him. God is helping me now. God is in my mind helping me to think constructively. With God's help I can solve every problem and solve it right."

Say this every morning and at intervals during the day — and believe it. Continue this affirmation regularly and one of these days you will feel His presence and really feel it with such force that you will have new power and strength. So why worry when you can pray?

The Unquestioned Compulsion

Years ago there were many who disputed the novel idea of free and compulsory public education. The first truancy laws were opposed as infringements on liberty.

But as our children return this fall to schools that will mold their growing minds—does a single parent complain?

I believe in sound religious education, as well. The molding of the character should keep pace with the molding of the mind.

Naturally I never want my government to exercise compulsion in this sacred area. And my Church, while it offers a complete curriculum of religious training, does so on a free and voluntary basis.

But I'm a parent! And, though I find that example and encouragement usually suffice, I'm not above telling Johnny, "YES, SON, YOU HAVE TO GO TO SUNDAY SCHOOL!"

As a child begins to see the importance Faith has in our lives and in the strength of our nation . . . you'll be surprised how quickly this becomes an unquestioned compulsion.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and ready your Bible daily.

We Have a Better Idea

There's nothing hard to understand about the coat-holders at Belgrade.

It's the most natural thing in the world for them to want the United States and the Soviet Union to quit squabbling.

In that unlikely event, the coat-holders would have nothing to worry about.

They couldn't get mixed up in a war they aren't prepared to fight.

There would be no more pressure for them to take sides.

Peace . . . it would be wonderful.

BUT THAT ISN'T the way it's going to be for the 25 "nonaligned" nations mulling over the problems of the neutralist world in Belgrade.

The pressure to take sides will be constant.

Neutrality is not going to be made popular by their wishful thoughts — and especially not by the wishful thought of those whose plan is to work both sides of the street, while staying in the middle.

Sooner or later, one way or another, they will be forced to take sides.

They know this; their leaders aren't fools. They only pretend to be neutral, in the hope of playing both ends against the middle.

AND NOW THEIR newest and they hope their brightest idea is to get President Kennedy and Chairman Khrushchev together to ease tension.

They will send delegations to each country to ask for such a meeting.

They are as safe in doing this as they would be in adopting a resolution for Christmas; the two men were going to meet anyway.

But as long as they have come out in favor of doing what was going to be done without any help from them, we have a better idea.

How about a meeting between a delegation from the 25 "nonaligned" nations and Chairman Khrushchev?

What would be wrong in letting the neutralists find out the hard way what causes friction between the United States and the Soviet Union?

All they know about the Soviet Union is how it butters them up in the hope of keeping them from joining the Free World.

They never have seen its unbuttoned side — the side it shows to all nations that have made a commitment to keep Communist man-worship on the defensive.

LET THEM ASK the Soviet Union for something.

Let them ask it for a reasonable agreement on nuclear armament, with inspection to make it worthwhile.

Let them ask it to live up to its pledges on something it is twisting to its own purposes, like the troubled situation in Berlin.

Let them ask for a ban on nuclear testing.

And while they are at it, they might ask it to give up its long-standing commitment to topple all governments it cannot dominate.

That would be a thumping request by the neutralists, because their toppling is first in the order of importance.

THIS WOULD be the quickest way to get rid of the coat-holders.

There is tension and an ugly threat of hot war in the world because governments that refuse to be run over by the Communist Conspiracy cannot come to terms with it.

The Kremlin is not manned now and never has been manned by reasonable men.

It is controlled by revolutionaries who try to bend the world into shape to suit their twisted ideology.

There can be no neutrals in a Communist world. There can be no friends or allies. There can be nothing but Communists and puppets.

The quickest way to convert the neutralists would be to make them try to do business with the Kremlin.

Neutrality? Nyet.

Political Pressure On Steel

President Kennedy, several members of his administration and numerous Democratic voices in Congress have joined in a recent campaign designed to forestall increases in the price of steel when a contracted raise in industry wages goes into effect Oct. 1.

Steel industry spokesmen say no decisions have been reached on possible price changes, and claim therefore that the Washington campaign is aimed at a "phantom" issue.

Whether or not that is true, it seems to us the steel companies have grounds for resenting the campaign because it implies they know less than other people about how to run their businesses.

THE STEEL INDUSTRY has not had an easy time of it during two recessions in three years. That is partly because of normal economic factors in time of recession and partly because of more intense competition for sales markets.

In addition to the competition among the steel companies themselves, there have been inroads by producers in other countries and by manufacturers of other materials designed to replace steel in a variety of products.

No one can have followed the speeches, formal reports, occasional comments and published writings of steel executives in the last few years and not realize that they are very much aware of these new challenges to their companies' continued success.

Since pricing is part and parcel of business success, it just is not reasonable to assume that the steel industry would raise prices capriciously in the face of intense competition. Yet that is what the Washington pressure campaign implies.

ON THE OTHER HAND, if the industry were to deem price increases necessary on any other basis than caprice—that is, on the basis of economic realities—could the Washington pressure campaign expect to be successful?

If it is reasonable to expect the steel industry to keep its price levels in proximity to its cost levels, it certainly is not unreasonable for the industry to raise its prices when its costs demand it.

If the new wage rates can be absorbed by the steel industry without an increase in prices, competition and two recent recessions offer sufficient control on industry policymakers to make an increase unlikely.

But the industry itself is the best judge of that, not the politicians in Washington.

Got Your Number?

The automation bogey can get taxpayers, too.

It would work like this:

An Internal Revenue Service checker with a pencil can do only so much. IRS chiefs tirelessly explain how much more money they could collect with a few more million dollars' worth of employees. But it's like reaching for the moon.

With data processing machines, IRS could automate taxpayers into perfect compliance with revenue laws. The machines would show who wasn't paying taxes, who had forgotten to file a return and whose return was out of line with his previous year's return.

They could do this in less time than it would take a division chief to set up a work schedule for a roomful of pencil sleuths—and infinitely better.

All it would take to get the thing rolling would be a number for every United States taxpayer. Data processing machines are good, but they can't remember names. They need numbers.

Congress is being asked for permission to assign a number to each taxpayer. For most of us, it would be our Social Security number—those who have Social Security accounts with the federal government. It would be simple from there on.

The government would have our numbers. It could press a button and find out whose income tax return was missing and whose return was out of line.

A data processing machine will get you if you don't watch out!

Those Blankety-Blank Compacts!

Political Smears

By RAYMOND MOLEY

A rough, windy primary campaign in New York City has ended. The results, published over the nation, are not relevant to the purpose of this article. Our abiding interest should be the low level which political campaigning in this country so often reaches.

In the final days of the campaign, an issue arose which is never absent from any campaign, especially when there is little choice among candidates on any pertinent ground. It is the issue of religious and racial prejudice, designated in headlines — because it is a short word — as "bias."

Arthur Levitt, state controller and candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor, according to the press, charged that Mayor Robert Wagner, also a candidate, permitted some of his lieutenants to circulate an anti-Semitic attack against Levitt.

This is called the "smear direct."

Then it was charged by some of Wagner's people that some of Levitt's people had manufactured the defamatory literature against Levitt to afford the charge of bigotry against Wagner.

That is called the "smear indirect."

Thus the variations on the theme are many and diverse.

OF COURSE, everyone deplores an appeal to racial or religious prejudice. And in some places everyone uses it.

I well remember the crisis of a campaign for mayor in New York in 1933. Fiorello LaGuardia, who proved to be a good mayor, but could play the demagogue with the best of his time, charged that Joseph McKee, who was running as an anti-Tammany Democrat, had written an essay in his school days casting aspersions upon Italian and Jewish boys. Since the "Little Flower" was both Italian and Jewish, it was a deadly weapon in his capable hands.

I was present when McKee's managers were discussing ways to meet the attack.

After some discussion, a member of the group who could have made a fortune in Hollywood portraying the political hack, said: "Let's start a 'whispering' campaign." I never knew whether his advice was taken. But, if so, it was unavailing. LaGuardia was elected.

The two parties in New York are meticulous in embracing all races and religions. In the old days the city-wide ticket was generally composed of a Catholic, a Jew, and a Protestant. The district attorneys for some reason were always Protestant.

IN TIME, an Italian name was substituted for that of a Protestant. Witness the current Republican slate: Leikowitz, Fino, and Gilhooley.

As the Negroes became politically powerful, one of that race was nominated by the Democrats for president of the Borough of Manhattan.

As I have noted, there are many varieties of the "bias" smear. When there is no possibility of proof and it seems impractical to manufacture one, a candidate repeats over and over, hand on heart, his right to public office, "under the Constitution of the United States, despite religious affiliation."

This casts abroad the suspicion that his opponent is indeed opposed to him on grounds of religion.

It is very effective. For the opponent cannot answer that he is really and truly a friend of all Americans, etc. That would get people thinking that he "protests too much" and must be guilty.

But the pious demagogue has ignited the fire of unreason. The damage is done. For even the most unworthy and neglectful of a faith feels a personal affront at a thrust at his inherited religion.

I might conclude by suggesting that all resorts to religious and racial themes in politics are reflections on the intelligence of voters.

Whoever raises the issue—in whatever form, direct, indirect, and by inference — should be repudiated.

Race and religion as a qualification for office should be irrelevant. But with human nature what it has been and is and will be, that ideal cannot be expected in our time.

Capital Internes

By KATHERINE EVANS

Co-eds Enjoy Summer Work In Washington

WASHINGTON

Within a few days the last of the 1961 crop of government internes will rotate back to Yale, Harvard, Vassar, Wellesley, Mt. Holyoke and just about every other college you've ever heard of—and some you haven't. The internes we talked to had a "terrific time."

"You get something working here in Washington that you can't get out of books," a pretty brunette from Mt. Holyoke said.

It would take an electronics computer to count up the number of hours that college students have put in this summer working—some for pay and some for free—in government departments and on Capitol Hill. In fact, it's difficult to get an estimate of the number of internes. They run into the hundreds.

THE YALE Summer Intern program which started three years ago with 12 internes, has now grown to 60.

Vassar and Wellesley each sent 14 girls to work in Washington this summer under a joint program. Mt. Holyoke sent 14. And there are scores of others, many of whom come from their own college students from all over the country.

Sen. Paul Douglas has used college internes off and on for 12 years.

"They just started asking me if they could work in the office, and I said 'yes.' But this is the first summer we've paid them."

Some internes work for nothing except experience. Others get a small stipend from their office. And still others—like some of the internes from Yale—get financial help from foundations like the John Hay Whitney Foundation.

Sen. Douglas, who used to teach economics, has put his five internes through all the paces in a senatorial office this summer.

"I make them work in the office, opening mail, writing letters, sealing letters—some of the drudgery—and then we have weekly seminars. I give each of them a legislative assignment. They report to me and the other internes on their topics."

"I make each read biographies of those six Americans." He pointed to portraits of Abraham Lincoln, Jane Addams, Peter Altgeld, Clarence Darrow, Robert La Follette and George Norris. . . . his particular heroes.

Stephen Schesinger, Harvard '64, whose father works in the White House, was a Douglas interne this summer. So was Mike Straight, whose father publishes the "New Republic." Mike is a senior at Millbrook School, the only pre-college interne we met.

WHAT IMPRESSED us was the enthusiasm of the internes. Lydia Vecchi, Vassar '61, and two Yale men work for New York's Sen. Keating. Lydia is a pretty dark-haired girl whose father runs a one-chair barbershop in Canandaigua, N. Y.

"Really, it's been very interesting," she said. "I've answered mail, gone to hearings and helped to compile a political and economic file on New York State. Sen. Keating encouraged us to go to committee hearings and to see the Senate and the House in action."

The Vassar-Wellesley group organize special meetings with senators, government officials and all kinds of Washington VIP's. Most of them live at the Meridien Hill Hotel out on 16th st. Other internes have been scattered all over town, some with friends, some in apartments or rented houses.

We ran across seven Mt. Holyoke girls who took an Army colonel's house in Georgetown. "It's kind of a squeeze," said one of them, "but at least we can't hurt the house. The owner has six children and he didn't seem a bit worried about what we might do to his house."

And Nancy Fitzgerald, from Philadelphia, who has spent 12 weeks in the office of Sen. Scott of Pennsylvania, says: "It's not only fun but the thing is you get the practical aspects of everything you've been learning out of books."

OR SUE HAUGEN of Highland Park, Ill.: "I work for Sen. Dirksen. No matter how much you think you know, there's nothing like being in Washington to find out how naive you really are. And it's so exciting. One day I substituted for the senator's personal secretary and, believe it or not, Richard Nixon, Christian Herter, and two senators all called him on the telephone in the first 10 minutes! As soon as I graduate from Mt. Holyoke next spring, I'm going to start working on Sen. Dirksen's campaign for reelection."

If the internes are enthusiastic about their senators, Capitol Hill seems equally enthusiastic about them. One legislative assistant admitted that "sometimes internes are more trouble than they're worth, but this summer, ours have been very good. They've all pulled their own weight."

"We love our internes," said one senator's secretary, "they're like a breath of fresh air. . . . so interested and enthusiastic, a real shot in the arm for the rest of us."

Chase Is Half The Fun

There are two kinds of education.

Now is the time for kids to understand why the two kinds are different—while they're still kids.

Some of us flubbed this when we were kids and wasted a lot of time getting things straightened out. We thought education was all the same.

We thought we pursued education to get a job and then killed two birds with one stone. When we got diplomas but didn't get jobs, we thought someone had misled us. Someone had.

We weren't told the difference between job training and classic education, which is a matter of cultivating the mind. It's the difference, actually, between job training and mind training.

It's impossible to make a clear separation between one and the other, because the mind is always being trained, whatever is being done. Job training itself is mind training of a kind.

But is not the only kind of education, though many people believe it's the only kind that counts. The other kind—that often doesn't seem to count has been with us longer and seems likely to hang on for a few more generations.

It doesn't train the educatee to do anything specific. He doesn't learn to do anything that is in the job classification catalog. He learns to have solid respect for a world of learning in which he has been privileged to explore under official guidance.

His curiosity is excited. He promises himself to learn more.

Not infrequently, the experience causes the learner to continue his education as a graduate student. And frequently it causes the learner to continue his education as a laborer in the vineyard. He becomes a teacher.

There is, then, this other kind of education, which must be thought of separately, because it's not job training but mind training.

Employers don't sniff at it the way they used to when some of us learned that diplomas were one thing and jobs another. Some corporations that can afford to wait for peaches to ripen now put non-trade school graduates on their payrolls and wait for their educated minds to mature on the job. They hire potentiality and think they are getting a bargain.

Not every kid in high school knows what he would study for if he went to college. Next June, won't know what they want to do. Contrary to an idea still gaining currency, civilization isn't going to be saved by the people who knew all along they wanted to build bombs or make manpower obsolete.

It will need a few of the minds that look at the moon and think of poetry instead of getting there before the Russians.

It will need minds that look at the world whole—not that this kind of education can be guaranteed but that this kind tries to present the world whole, instead of in fragments of specialization, each fragment managed by specialists.

There's nothing disgraceful about saying, "I don't know yet" when asked your purpose in pursuing education.

A tremendous experience awaits those who have the privilege of making up their minds. They can explore the wonderful world of learning as they live—and learn.

It's a thought worth passing along to all high school students who honestly can't say yet that they intend to be this, that, or the other. What's wrong with just being students in pursuit of learning?

Matter of Fact

Many European countries celebrate May Day as a spring festival, but no one knows the origin. Some say it started with the tree worship of the ancient Druids while others believe it goes back even further to the spring festivals of Egypt and India.

White House Gals Love Their Jobs

By JERRY BENNETT WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Free trips overseas, love letters from unknown admirers and typing lessons from President Kennedy are just a few reasons why White House secretaries love their jobs.

For being a girl Friday to the President and his aides is one of the most glamorous, exciting ways that a gal can earn a living.

During the past six months, 25 young women from all parts of the country have been finding this out time and time again. They are the secretaries who have entered the White House since Jan. 20 with the new administration.

All measure up to the image of the New Frontier women created by First Lady Jackie Kennedy. They are young, pretty and filled with enthusiasm for everything they do.

Their ages range from 20 through 36. Most have completed college. Many worked for Kennedy on Capitol Hill when he was a senator. Others helped out during his campaign.

SINCE GOING TO work at the White House, all have learned to expect the unexpected. One day Kennedy's second secretary, 20-year-old Priscilla Wear of Philadelphia, who is rarely asked to do typing, was struggling through a letter. The President strode into her office to see what was taking her so long.

"Let me show you how to pick up your speed," said Kennedy, a former newspaperman. He sat down and gave wide-eyed Priscilla a typing lesson. Word that the President is planning a trip overseas or in the U.S. always causes excitement among the secretaries. At least one of the girls is usually chosen to help out with the administrative chores that are part of every out of town journey. Since joining the White House force, Barbara Gamarekian, who works for Assistant Press Secretary Andrew Hatcher, has visited London, Paris, Ottawa, Chicago, New York and Boston.

WHEN NEWS STORIES began appearing about the new White House staff, the girls found love letters turning up in the daily mail load. Some have also received telephone calls at the office from hopeful admirers seeking dates.

Nearly all express, one way or another, a kind of stage-struck reaction to working in the important White House setting. Says Beth Fein, an attractive 28-year-old Washington girl who works with the "legislative liaison" staff:

"We're riding the wave of the present. It's a marvelous feeling, being part of something vital."

Marilyn Mills, 27, of Guthrie, Okla., in the same office:

"This is history—right now."

A girl in Appointment Secretary Kenneth O'Donnell's office, Pauline Fluet, 36, of Lawrence, Mass., feels she has a box seat:

"I've got the best spot in the whole place. Everybody goes through here. We see all the leading figures of the world."

To Jerry Whittington, 29, West River, Md., newcomer in presidential aide Ralph Dungan's office, "It took a day or two to get over the shock" of being at the center of history.

But White House duty is not all glamor. The girls work hard. Most put in a 10-hour day without overtime. Some have hung over their typewriters for as long as 15 hours.

ALL ARE intensely loyal to the New Frontier and take their jobs seriously — sometimes a little too much so. For instance, 20-year-old Phyllis Mills of Mid-

Quakers Dump Struthers 16-0 In Season Opener

Fullback Fred Kaiser Smashes For Both Salem Touchdowns

Locals Dominate Play Throughout; Defense Displays Mid-Season Form

By CARL NADRASY

A highly-impressive Salem Quakers football team got its 1961 season off to a flying start with a resounding 16-0 win over a starved pack of Struthers Wildcats Friday night before a shirt-sleeve crowd of 4,900 fans at Reilly Stadium.

Displaying a strong defense and a highly potent ground attack, the locals dominated play throughout the contest.

Offensively it was Salem's overall team speed that proved too much for the Wildcats. The speed of the local backs was highly impressive to those witnessing the contest. On many occasions the swift Quaker backs darted into the line on quick openers and gobbled up substantial yardage before the heavier, but slower, Struthers defensive line had time to react to the thrusts.

The Quakers so outclassed their opponents that they dominated the statistics in every department except passing. Salem led in first downs 13-9, net yards rushing 220-101 and total number of plays 53-36.

In passing, the locals attempted only four passes, completing two, as they stuck to an almost-exclusive ground attack. Struthers was also highly rushing-minded as they went to the air only seven times, completing three.

DEFENSIVELY, Coach Blaine Morton of Salem could hardly ask for a better performance from his charges. The local mentor seems to have his boys at mid-season effectiveness on defense this early in the campaign. Only once were the Wildcats able to penetrate inside the Quaker 20 yard line, to have that chance thwarted by a fumble brought on by a resounding tackle.

Defensive play on the forward wall, and especially from line-backers Fred Kaiser and Roger DeCrow, was a pleasant sight to watch from the Salem vantage point. The defense was so effective that it was able to keep the Wildcats' big ground gainer, fullback Lee Roy Lewis, in check with only 11 yards in five carries from scrimmage.

Hard-driving fullback Fred Kaiser scored both Salem touchdowns on short scampers after the Quakers pushed the ball near the goal on sustained drives. Two extra points were added after each score by fullback Dave Edling on power runs over the right side of the line.

KAISER'S first tally came with five minutes and 26 seconds remaining in the first period, seven plays after Salem right tackle Butch Crawford recovered a Struthers fumble on the visitors' 29 yard line.

Staying strictly on the ground, the Quaker backfield alternated in carrying the ball on six plays to the Wildcats' eight yard line, where Kaiser then bulldozed his way over right tackle for the score. Edling then added the two-pointer with a grinding run over right end to make the score 8-0 Salem.

Struthers' one and only big threat of the game came on the next series of plays.

After the Salem score, left tackle George Begalla kicked off for the locals and right halfback Jim Eisenbraun returned the pigskin to the Struthers 43 yard line.

The Wildcats ground game began to click as fullback Lee Roy Lewis, left halfback Ed Caracelli and Eisenbraun chopped off consistent yardage to move the ball to the Salem eight yard stripe in eight plays.

BUT SALEM got its second break of the contest when Caracelli fumbled after picking up two yards to the Salem six yard line. The ball was recovered by Wildcats' only real scoring opportunity of the game was halted.

In the second period both teams battled back and forth near midfield until Salem began another sustained drive with about two minutes remaining in the half.

After Struthers had lost the ball on a fourth-and-twelve situation at the midfield stripe, the Quakers moved the ball in twelve plays to the visitors' five yard line. On the next play, fullback Kaiser moved the ball to the two yard stripe as the gun sounded.

play moved into the middle of the final period. Edling, Kaiser and quarterback Bill Beery then chewed up yardage through the center of the line to move the ball to the visitors' nine yard line and a first and goal situation.

Beery then called on Kaiser for three straight power plays up the middle, and the burly, hard-charging fullback sliced over left guard from four yards out on the final try for his second touchdown with six minutes and 55 seconds remaining in the contest. Edling was called upon for the extra points and again went off right end to get them.

Struthers again fumbled as Eisenbraun bobbled the Salem kickoff by Begalla, with the ball being recovered by right guard Bob Steele on the Wildcats' 44 yard stripe.

With a 16-point lead, Beery went to the air on three plays, hitting halfback Dick Capel twice and misfiring to end George Esterly. But the Salem attack bogged down on the Struthers 30 yard line and the Wildcats took over on downs.

ON THE VERY next play, a pass from Struthers' quarterback Ron Lynn to Eisenbraun in the right flat was picked off by Edling and the speedster scampered down the left sidelines across the enemy goal line. However, interference was called on a Salem defender during the pass play and the long run and touchdown were nullified.

Later in the quarter, when Salem had the ball once again, Beery was trapped back on the Salem 45 yard line, but managed to break away from two tacklers and skirt around left end for a score. But this score was also called back by a Salem penalty for illegal motion.

Salem's next game will be next Friday against Youngstown North at Reilly Stadium. Struthers' next opponent is Youngstown East.

High school senior Molly Malloy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Malloy of 1193 Maple St., was crowned 1961 Salem High School football queen at ceremonies at halftime. Miss Malloy's court included Peggy Hess, Diane Dawson, Susan Matthews, Sue Rush, Joyce Mallory and Brenda Smith, all seniors at Salem High.

Both the Salem and Struthers High School bands performed at the halftime intermission.

Jackson Milton 22 East Canton 6

Jackson Milton came up with two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to break a 6-6 deadlock and defeat their hosts, East Canton, 22-6, Friday night.

The Canton Hornets scored their only TD of the game in the first quarter on a two yard plunge by Tom Sukso. Bob Brown's placement failed and the Hornets took a 6-0 lead.

Jackson Milton halfback, Bill Byer, skirted left end for a one-yard score in the second but an attempted run for the extra points was smothered.

In the fourth stanza, Byers found running room around left end again and darted 11-yards for a score and a pass play to end Jim Beaulieu clicked for the extra points. Late in the quarter, tackle Mike Woloshack intercepted a Hornet pass and galloped 45 yards to score. Byer plunged for the extra points.

Lisbon 18 Carrollton 6

Although handicapped by the loss of their first string quarterback, Larry McPherson, due to a broken arm, the Lisbon Blue Devils marched to an 18-6 victory at Carrollton Friday.

Coach Bud Bucher's hard-hitting fullback, Gary Peruchetti, accounted for two of the Blue Devils' touchdowns while the third was added by fleet-footed Jeff Henry. Marshall Mervin scored Carrollton's lone tally. Neither team added extra points.

After a scoreless first quarter, Peruchetti crashed over left tackle for 10 yards and a score in the second period and bulldozed for a five yard tally in the third before Mervin scored late in the period to cap Carrollton's only sustained drive of the game.

Henry skirted left end in the fourth quarter for the last tally of the game.

TD-run in the first quarter to send them ahead 6-0 but the lead was short-lived as the visitors' Paul Conrad sprinted 80 yards for a touchdown in the second stanza and then bulldozed over from the two-yard line for another score later in the period. Joe Gallo kicked both conversions.

With just two minutes remaining in the game the host's Francis Passage swept left end for a 40-yard touchdown sprint and then plunged for the tying points.

Sutherland substituted freely in the final stanza and his reserve squad had the ball on Newton Falls' nine-yard line when the final gun sounded.

Reds Edge St. Louis 3-2 To Regain 2-Game Margin

Los Angeles Drops 7-3 Tilt to Giants

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Cincinnati Reds, on the brink of falling out of first place in the National League pennant race, regained a two-game lead by beating St. Louis 3-2 in 10 innings Friday night when second place Los Angeles lost 7-3 at San Francisco.

Pittsburgh joined the Giants in helping out the Reds by chilling third-place Milwaukee 2-1, dropping the Braves seven games behind. The Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 4-1.

Tigers Lose Again

In the American League, Mickey Mantle hit his 52nd home run, but teammate Roger Maris, with 55 homers, was hitless as the New York Yankees whipped Cleveland 9-1 for their ninth in a row and a 10-game bulge over Detroit. The second-place Tigers lost their eighth in a row, 9-2 at Boston. The Chicago White Sox beat Los Angeles 5-3 in 10 innings, Baltimore swept two from Washington, 2-1 and 4-2, and Kansas City beat Minnesota 6-4.

Cincinnati, after losing four of seven, pulled back to .500 (10-10) since regaining first place Aug. 16, on Gus Bell's pinch single, a sacrifice and Eddie Kasko's single. They caught up with the Cards in the eighth when loser Ernie Broglio (9-11) gave up his first walk. An error and Frank Robinson's two-out, two-run double put the Reds back in the game. Jim Brosnan (9-3) was the winner in relief — his seventh in a row over the Cards.

Podres Blasted By Giants

The Dodgers' bid for a fifth straight victory didn't get past the first inning at San Francisco. The Giants stung Dodger ace Johnny Podres (18-5), who had won 10 in a row on the road, for four runs. Joey Amalfitano started off with a triple and came across on Jim Davenport's single. Willie Mays added a two-run homer. Orlando Cepeda socked his 39th home run and that was that.

Lefthander Mike McCormick (12-14), given extra help by Davenport's two-run homer in the second, was the winner as the Giants ended their losing skid at five, four at Los Angeles. The Dodgers had nine hits, as did the Giants, but only one was a homer, a two-run shot by Gil Hodges that completed their scoring in the sixth inning.

Pirates Nip Braves

The Pirates managed only four hits but beat rookie Bob Hendley (5-4) with two runs in the fourth on two walks, Roberto Clemente's single and a doubleplay. Bob Friend (14-7) was the winner, getting Frank Bolling to hit into a force out with the bases loaded in the ninth. Milwaukee had eight hits, and scored in the sixth on a double by Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron's single.

If Roberto Clemente wins the National League batting title, it will be the first time since 1935-1936 that the batting title has been won in consecutive years by two different Pirates. In 1935, Arky Vaughan won it with .385, followed in 1936 by Paul Waner with .373. Arky Vaughan's .385 mark in 1935, is the club's high for batting average.

Mick's 52nd Equals His 1956 Record

By JOE RIECHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Modesty is an admirable trademark of Mickey Mantle, so it came as a surprise when he said Friday night:

"This thing isn't over yet. I don't think I'm out of it, I'm gonna try like hell." Mantle, "trying like hell" Friday night despite a gimpy left knee that has hampered him for two weeks, smashed his 52nd home run as the New York Yankees whipped Cleveland 9-1 for their ninth consecutive victory.

Mickey's home run, which equaled his personal season high, still left him three shy of Maris' total but kept him two games back of Babe Ruth's record pace of 1927 when the Bambino hit 60. Maris went homerless and now is six games ahead of Ruth's pace. He and Mantle have 13 games left in their assault on the record for 154 decisions, as ruled by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Mantle admitted the sensational home run hitting of Maris has spurred him on to his best season since 1956 when he also walloped 52 home runs and captured the triple crown.

"I doubt if I would have played as many games as I have," he said, obviously thinking of the bum left knee. "Roger has presented a sort of challenge."

Mantle laughed when someone asked whether the pressure was on again.

"Heck, no," he said. "As a matter of fact, when I hit my 48th last week, I told Roger, 'The pressure is off me. I already beat my guy.'"

The reference was to the 47 home runs hit by Ruth's teammate, Lou Gehrig, in 1927. Mickey's meaning was clear. As the leader it was up to Maris to top Ruth's 60.

Friday's clout by Mantle, off right-hander Gary Bell in the fifth inning, gave the M and M boys a combined total of 107 home runs, matching the combined record total of Ruth and Gehrig.

Mickey displayed a bruise on his left shin, sustained while batting in the eighth inning. After drawing a walk, he gave way to a pinch runner.

"The foot still aches," said Mickey, "but it won't keep me out of the lineup unless it gets a lot worse. It will have to be pretty sore to keep me out."

United States Eliminated In Tennis Play

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Another dark day for United States tennis dawned today with four foreigners in the semifinal round of the National Championship.

Roy Emerson of Australia meets Rafael Osuna of Mexico and Rod Laver of Australia tangles with Mike Sangster of England for the right to make the championship bracket.

Only once before in the long history of the Nations has an American failed to make the semifinals. That was in 1958.

The final four Americans were eliminated Friday. Top-seeded Laver took care of Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., 6-4, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4. Emerson, ranked No. 3, whipped Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5. Sangster, the No. 4 seed, trounced Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., 6-4, 7-5, 6-1. Osuna, unseeded, completed the shambles by downing Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 6-8, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Even in the women's division, things are desperate. Except for defending champion Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., it's an all meets Margaret Smith of Australia in one semi and British Wightman Cuppers Angela Mortimer and Ann Haydon play the other.

Miss Mortimer, the Wimbledon champion, eliminated Lesley Turner of Australia, 6-4, 6-4 and Miss Haydon, seeded No. 7, downed Jan Lehane of Australia, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2 Friday.

Federal Voting Laws Urged

Anti-Discrimination Legislation Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Rights Commission recommended today that Congress enact legislation to ensure the right of all qualified Americans to vote. It said six years of schooling should meet any state literacy requirement.

Evidence of balloting discrimination has been found in eight Southern states, the commission reported.

The commission divided 4 to 2 on the recommendation that Congress pass laws to deal with discrimination against Negroes and other minority groups in voting.

This recommendation was in two parts. Citing the 14th and 15th Amendments to the Constitution as establishing a federal say in voting matters, the commission majority said Congress should:

Declare that voter qualifications other than age, residence, confinement and conviction of a crime are susceptible to use and have been used to deny the right to vote on grounds of race and color.

Enact legislation providing that all citizens shall have a right to vote in federal or state elections and that this right shall not be interfered with except for inability to meet reasonable age or length of residence requirements or on grounds of conviction of a crime.

The right to vote, the commission added, should also include the right to register or otherwise qualify to vote and have the vote counted.

The majority included Chairman John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University; Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame University; Spottwood W. Robinson III, dean of the Howard University Law School, and Dean Erwin N. Griswold of the Harvard Law School.

The dissenters were Vice Chairman Robert G. Storey, former dean of the Law School of Southern Methodist University, and Robert S. Rankin, chairman of the Department of Political Science at Duke University.

call is notice for a dependent to show up at a certain port for transportation.

3. Cancel authority for "concurrent travel" of dependents in all cases where the military man or civilian employee has not departed from his last duty station. This means that if the man is still on duty in the United States his dependents cannot go to Europe with him.

4. Explain the situation to holders of port calls or concurrent travel orders and encourage dependents to forego travel in those cases where the travel is scheduled prior to Oct. 9.

5. Advise all concerned about the right of dependents forbidden to go to Europe, to be moved to some other location along with their household goods. For example, in the case of a soldier going to Europe his wife and children might want to go to live with in-laws.

Exceptions to the ban on travel may be made by high authorities where "the presence of dependents is in the national interest."

Officials said this might apply to the families of military attaches at U.S. embassies abroad or members of military assistance groups working with foreign governments.

Sources said the reinforcements would start moving as soon as possible. The first wave may not be ready to cross the Atlantic until Oct. 1.

Some time ago, Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, asked the Pentagon for 38,000 support-type troops to round out the European-based 7th Army.

Subsequently, on Aug. 11, the Army announced 3,000 troops would go to Europe. It was said at the time additional men would be trained to follow.

Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff, disclosed Friday that 1,000 new men were being assigned to each of the three infantry divisions in Germany—the 3rd, 8th and 24th.

Decker told the Association of the United States Army that the added men would permit the 7th Army to man and maintain an additional number of armored personnel carriers.

The Army chief said the 3,000 men and the lightweight, amphibious, air-transportable troop carriers earmarked for Germany were already on their way. He did not say how many carriers were involved.

Behind this stepped-up mechanization is the knowledge that Soviet forces in Europe are highly mechanized.

When the United States proclaimed its independence, Hawaii had not been discovered.

Agricultural Committees Are Elected

Columbiana County farmers have picked their agricultural, stabilization and conservation committees in 11 township districts, according to Clifford Shaw of Lisbon RD 4, chairman of the board.

The first name is chairman; second, vice-chairman; third, a member; fourth and fifth are first and second alternate, respectively. Two members of these five in each district will meet Friday at Lisbon village hall and elect a committee from the community groups to serve for the coming year.

There were 620 farmers voting this year, Shaw said.

Elected by districts were:

Butler—George B. Brantingham, Lloyd Walton, Donald Sanor, Donald Flugan and Harold J. McCullough.

Hanover and Center — Ernest Moser, Harry Seidel, Arthur Wernet, Carl Crosser and Arthur Haesley.

Elkrun and Middleton — John Raley, Harry W. Bowman, John Manning, Paul Chamberlain and Carl H. Daiger.

Fairfield — Herman Schwab, Homer Royer, Hugh Farmer, Clark Chamberlain and James R. Cooper.

Franklin and Washington—Regis Mundy, Howard McKarns, John McPherson, Wade Clark and Edwin H. King.

Knox — Wilson Yaggi, Clarence Borton, Hugh McCracken, Herbert Hunter and John Bandy.

Madison and Wayne — Frank Woodrow, Harold E. Ferguson, Donald E. Watson, William C. Metts and Donald Burton Jr.

Perry and Salem — J. Glenn Bates, Walter Vincent, Ira Bartholow, Glenn Farrington and John VanBlaricom.

Unity — Cecil M. Conkle, Glenn Wilhelm, Curtis Hively, John E. Ward and Dwaine Hawkins.

West — Lee Hayman, Arthur Cowden, William Merrick, D. E. Walker and Robert W.W. Summer.

Liverpool, St. Clair and Yellow Creek — Robert Hickman, Frank Trotter, George Yaney, Carl Wollam and Donald Knepper.

County Legionaires Hear Auditor Bell

LISBON — Members from all county American Legion posts heard Auditor Kenneth Bell report on the tax and reappraisal program which will go into effect next year.

A question and answer period followed his talk.

In other business the county American Legion council made a special arrangement for their corn and wiener roast to be held Sunday, Sept. 17, at George D. Worth Post 574 at Lake Placencia, starting at 1 p.m. There also will be games and program for the family.

County Commander Walter McCoy presided at last night's meeting. The next will be held Friday, Oct. 13, at Wellsville.

Warren Man Fined $150 For Intoxication

William Arthur Jenkins, 38, of Warren, was fined $150 and sentenced to three days in city jail by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer today after pleading guilty to driving while intoxicated.

Jenkins was cited by police at 4:10 this morning after he had gone through a red light at the intersection of State St. and Ellsworth Ave.

Herman Parton, 39, of Kokomo, Ind., was fined $67 and costs by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer Friday for truck overload.

Lisbon Speed Meter Trips Six Motorists

LISBON — Six motorists forfeited $10 bonds each Friday evening when they failed to appear before Mayor Dean Stockman for speeding after they were cited by village police who set up their speed meter on W. Lincoln Way.

Forfeiting were Kathleen Tritten, 51, Lisbon RD 4; Edith A. Lewis, 56, of Leetonia; Carole Farich of Salineville; Elizabeth Joebings, 41, Canton; David Klein, 39, Cleveland, and Burr Amick, 71, of Dover.

One Gambling Stamp Issued In County

It appears like gambling operations in Columbiana County are either going underground or they are slackening off.

A first-hand check with the internal Revenue Bureau office in Cleveland yesterday showed only one federal gambling stamp issued in Columbiana County for the 1961-62 year. It went to Frank E. Geisse of the Recreation Cigar store, 361 Main St., Wellsville.

Geisse was one of six who got stamps for the 1960-61 year.

of our times—universal and total disarmament."

He said, "Let us seek seriously, in good faith, a solution to the question of concluding a German peace treaty so as to arrest in good time the sliding of states into the inferno of a rocket-nuclear war. Then everything will be set in place again; there will not only be no nuclear tests but even no threat of a nuclear war."

Hope Still Alive On Berlin Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Western efforts to open up a basis for negotiation of a Berlin settlement with the Soviet Union were reported today to have been unsuccessful so far.

U.S. officials still expressed confidence, however, that exploration through diplomatic channels, including the American Embassy in Moscow and contacts at the United Nations, eventually will lead to negotiations between the Soviet Union and the Western powers.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk declared here Friday night that "we expect negotiations on Berlin as soon as it is apparent that negotiations of a serious and constructive character can occur."

But he said there is nothing in the "fine print" of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's statements on Berlin to "show the path to agreement."

Rusk warned the Soviet government against risking disaster by single-handed action against Allied interests in West Berlin. He also warned the Kremlin not to mistake the West's desire for peace as a willingness to yield to the Soviets' Berlin demand.

At the moment, Rusk said, the channels of communication available between Moscow and Western capitals "are not being neglected."

It is understood that U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson had a talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Moscow earlier this week.

Indications here were that Gromyko stuck to the same hard line on Berlin which Khrushchev has been stating publicly.

The Soviet Union's resumption of nuclear weapons testing, which the United States has denounced as "atomic blackmail," and Soviet diplomatic attacks on Allied use of the air corridors between Berlin and West Germany are regarded in official quarters here as discouraging.

Khrushchev said in Moscow Friday that he is ready for "businesslike talks" with President Kennedy on the Berlin issue. But officials said their efforts to find out what Khrushchev considers negotiable have shown only that he wants to negotiate away the position of the Western powers in Berlin.

Today is the deadline for Khrushchev to reply to the proposal made last Sunday by Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for a ban on nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere.

Khrushchev has indicated publicly that he considered the proposal a propaganda maneuver and reject it.

Man Feels Fine After 102 Hours In Shelter

HOUIAM, Wash. (AP) — Don White, clean shaven and smiling, stepped up at 4 p.m. Friday from the fallout shelter where he had spent 102 hours and said: "I feel fine."

White, 26, an employee of radio station KXRO, went underground Monday to test a new 8 by 12-foot shelter and human reactions to living in one alone.

Incoming telephone calls — he had 113 one-day — and compilation of data for civil defense authorities kept him busy.

"The radio was a big help in keeping me in touch with the world. But I learned something, 'I hate rock and roll music.'"

So They Say

I suspect that when historians of the future reconstruct the history of the American people during the past ten years, they will devote many puzzled hours trying to decide why it was that in a world of hunger ... so many Americans regarded their agricultural abundance as a national headache.—George McGovern, director of Food for Peace program.

No questions are indiscreet — but answers are. — Edward R. Murrow, director of U.S. Information Agency.

Soviet Nuclear Testing Doooms Ban Confab

GENEVA (AP) — The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union perform burial rites today for the nuclear test ban conference after 340 sessions. It was doomed when the Soviets decided to resume tests.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin was expected to bring the 34-month-old parley to a formal end by delivering the Kremlin's rejection of the last-minute Western proposal for a ban on tests that contaminate the earth's atmosphere.

The deadline set by the West for the Soviet Union's answer on their offer expired with today's meeting.

U.S. delegate Charles C. Steele and British delegate Sir Michael Wright were then expected to suggest to Tsarapkin, the current chairman, that the talks be recessed indefinitely.

This procedure will allow the three powers to arrange a resumption of the talks through diplomatic channels—if the Soviet Union, at some time in the future, shows a new willingness to negotiate a treaty for a policed ban on nuclear weapons tests.

President Kennedy and Prime Minister MacMillan offered to sign an immediate agreement for a ban on tests in the atmosphere without any of the complex control machinery which has been the crucial issue of the talks.

The Western offer was made immediately after the Soviet Union had started its current atmospheric test series in central Asia and Siberia.

Tests conducted above ground and within the atmosphere are the most harmful to human health because of their radioactive fallout. They are also the easiest to detect at long range, and can be policed without any of the elaborate controls and inspections needed to keep a check on tests concealed underground.

Investigators said that the "inflammable mixture" was apparently intended to serve as a fuse for the plastic charge but something went amiss.
